DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chu et al. (U.S. 3,524,497).

Chu discloses a heat transfer liquid cooled apparatus comprising all of the applicant's claimed and disclosed limitations of the instant invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chu et al. (U.S. 3,524,497) in view of Ishida (JP 6-112380).

Chu's invention discloses all of the claimed limitations from above except for within the inside of said hermetically close space is attached a metal plate, expanding radial directions from a portion of the semiconductor element.

Art Unit: 3743

5. However, Ishida teaches the use of a metal plate expanding radial directions from a portion within the inside of a hermetically close space.

Given the teachings of Ishida, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the heat transfer liquid cooled apparatus of Chu with a metal plate expanding radial directions from a portion within the inside of a hermetically close space from a portion of the semiconductor element.

Doing so would provide enhance the heat conductivity to allow for better heat dissipation.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 4-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following references cited on the USPTO 892 discloses related limitations of the applicant's claimed and disclosed invention.
